

How did we get so great at making PC and Mac systems work together? We'll never tell.

Ok, we admit it. We love computers. We even love the bad ones – the monitors that go all Andy Warhol on you, or the printer that thinks it's a paperweight. We love turning not-works into networks, and making sure your software, hard drives, scanners and handhelds play nice. Mac or PC, big systems or small, we don't discriminate. And even though our name is new, our mission is the same: to keep your computer systems working for you, and to have a little fun along the way. And we'll do (almost) anything to make it happen.

Rob Underwood & Rob Miles. Two computer guys on a mission.

P.O. Box 806
Salem, VA 24153

To go with our new name,
we've put together a brand-new website: www.tworobs.com.
Check out our new look,
and our services.

Plus, if you're not a current client, you can log on and
sign up for a free one-hour,
no-obligation consultation.